Grade 1 Quantum Excursion

The Year 1 Cohort went on an excursion to Quantum Services in Bundoora. The students worked on different science experiments. They demonstrated pushing and pulling forces using balloons and chairs. Students used invisible ink and water to reveal a secret drawing. Amazing doorbells and cars appeared when they built electrical circuits using batteries and other electronic equipment. The lava lamps were amazing. The HIGHLIGHT was when students launched their rockets that were made from paper, a little plastic container, baking soda and vinegar. Well done, Year 1s, you became amazing scientists this week.

Draft writing piece from Ryan Z from Room 7

Draft writing piece from Ollie T Room 7

The Year 6 students wrote some fantastic narratives during Term 2. The students focused on genres such as horror, mystery, thriller, fantasy (and more), selecting vocabulary to suit their genre and entertain the audience.

Luke Hercherson

Written by Layla Room 18

Genre: Crime

“Good evening, I’m Luna with some breaking news. That serial killer Luke Hercherson has escaped prison after being behind bars for exactly 12 years. He is reported to be in Dallas at the moment. Police are investigating the area. Please be sure to secure your house by locking all doors and windows. May god be with you all...”

That Lab

Written by Ahmed Room 18

Genre: Mystery

Rats squeaked in the darkness, and muffled machinery echoed from who knows where. The two walked to a magnificent door covered in writing saying “The Room of Secrets.” Lilly stepped over an unknown trip wire. “Boom!” The building started to collapse on itself. “We never should have completely trusted Miss Dodd’s”, Intel yelled! “I know that NOW!” said Lilly, shouting to be heard over the explosions. The pair of twins swiftly navigated the rubble maze. Suddenly, without warning, a lone figure appeared from the dust. An unearthly glow pulsed behind it.

The Darkness

Written by Mikayla Room 18

Somewhere in this crazy mess, there is a darkness. Planning where to attack next. Legend has it that it lives in the far side of the woods. The part that we are cut off to by a fence. The fence is a way the government can protect us, or some people say it is to protect whatever is on the other side from us. The other side of the fence is called Belton Forest, which is said to be the home of the darkness...

“Mia! Mia! It’s snowing, it’s snowing!” Evelyn shouted in Mia’s ear. “Are you awake?” She is such a suck up, thought Mia. “Yes you rat! Now get dressed, we have to go get berries for tonight!” They both giggled because they both know that “rat” is Evelyn’s pet name.

They left their little cottage, Mia and Evelyn live on the poor side of LA, which would explain why they only eat winter berries at night. They have struggled to find food, ever since their mother and father died on a ship from food poisoning. Mia and Evelyn are sisters they live on the brink of extinction their mother would always say.

THE BLOOD WISH

By Selina Room 18

GENRE: HORROR

Suddenly a hand rail appears right next to me.

WHOOSH

I hear a sound behind me, I check but nothing is there.

WHOOSH

I check again, nothing. Suddenly I feel my hot red blood draining from my tense body... I knew this day was coming. I take my hand off the rail and I feel like I was just brought back from the dead.
